

ABSTRACT

5 The present invention discloses a micro-stamp array supported on a substrate. The micro array includes an array of micro-stamp sticks substantially of a same stick length extending vertically from a surface of the substrate. In a preferred embodiment, each of the micro-stamp sticks further includes a micro-channel for depositing a liquid sample with pre-defined volume therein.